

ONE-YEAR COUPLES THERAPY FELLOWSHIP FOR LICENSED THERAPISTS (2023)

The Couples Clinic is offering an opportunity for licensed therapists to spend a year receiving intensive training and supervision in couples therapy. The Fellowships are designed to produce highly trained and competent therapists who specialize in helping couples improve their relationships.

Have you ever had the experience of trying to help a couple while feeling more like a referee at a mud-wrestling contest than a therapist?

Have you found it frustrating to be a "jack of all trades but master of none?" With so many kinds of problems and modalities of treatment that it can be overwhelming. Wouldn't it be really nice to buckle down and become really good at something?

Shouldn't that something be helping couples? Couples therapy is hard, and few therapists are really good at it. You could be one of them.

In our Year-Long Couples Therapy fellowship, you will...

- Receive intensive training and supervision in Pragmatic/Experiential Therapy for Couples (PET-C), a powerful approach that translates new findings from neurobiology and relationship science into practical methods for improving relationships. from Dr. Brent Atkinson and other senior Couples Clinic Supervisors.
- Set yourself on track to become a permanent part of a team whose innovative couples therapy methods are known and used around the world.

This One-Year Couples Therapy Fellowship is Ideal for Licensed Therapists Who:

- are interested in becoming expert in Couples Therapy, and get paid while they do it.
- are willing to work full time at the Couples Clinic as they complete the year-long fellowship, and
- are interested in a post-fellowship career working at an established, well-known couples treatment center.

- The Couples Clinic and Research Institute in Geneva, Illinois is the home of an innovative team of therapists and researchers who have generated methods that are known and used by couples therapists around the world (thecouplesclinic.com/our-story). Each year, therapists come to Geneva to learn Pragmatic/Experiential Therapy for Couples. They work hard while also enjoying all that Geneva has to offer (Geneva is rated by World Atlas as one of the 15 most beautiful towns in America.)

Fellowship Candidate Selection Philosophy

- We believe that your personal qualities are more important than your experience. We are looking for licensed therapists (LMFT, LCPC or LCSW) who have a passion for couples therapy and have a strong enough personality to hold the therapy room with distressed couples. We are also looking for individuals who aren't afraid to say things that clients might not want (but need) to hear, and have the ability to say them in a way that goes down easy.

Model of Couples Therapy

- We are the creators of Pragmatic/Experiential Therapy for Couples (PET-C). Detailed in our books, Emotional Intelligence in Couples Therapy: Advances from Neurobiology and the Science of Intimate Relationships, and Developing Habits for Relationship Success, our approach has been described by Oprah as “completely counterintuitive and wonderfully effective,” and the editor of the Journal of Marital and Family Therapy called it “a tour-de-force of scientific wisdom and sophistication.” Step-by-step, you will become masterful in implementing this highly integrative and comprehensive treatment model for couples.

Training and Supervision

- Supervision is the most intensive in the beginning, then gradually tapers off as you become more experienced with couples.
- In the first 6 months, you'll receive 4 ¼ hours of individual supervision and 2 ½ hours of group supervision each week.
- In months 7-12, you'll receive 3 ¼ hours of individual supervision each week, and 2 ½ hours of group supervision.
- Throughout the Fellowship, your supervisor will:
 - Listen to audio-recordings of your sessions, giving you moment-by-moment suggestions about how you can increase your effectiveness.
 - Guide you through (and giving you feedback on) training exercises that help you...
 - Identify key choice points in sessions, when moving one direction vs. another can make a big difference.

- Help you learn to use words and phrases that really get your clients attention and help them realize changes they need to make in very concrete ways.
 - Develop the ability to give clients critical feedback without them feeling criticized.
 - Examine the automatic reactions you have during sessions, understand where these automatic tendencies come from, and engage in practices that can re-wire them when needed.
 - Understand the highly integrative nature of PET-C, and how it is similar and different to other couples therapy approaches.
 - Teach you how to become adept at helping partners...
 - Become willing to drop the upper hand and put themselves on a level playing field with their mates.
 - Understand and assume responsibility for their mutual contributions to the depleted condition of their relationship.
 - Experience genuine regret and remorse for the pain that they have caused each other.
 - Come to grips with their perpetual differences, cut their losses, and get on the same page with a game plan for how to manage these differences more successfully in the future.
 - Rewire the way their nervous systems react in emotionally charged situations.
 - Navigate spontaneous disagreements better – replacing criticism, defensiveness and dismissiveness with more effective ways of getting their needs met.
 - Avoid rabbit holes that lead to repetitive arguments.
 - Create relational safety, allowing partners to open their hearts to each other, enabling feelings of warmth, tenderness, affection, playfulness, sexual interest and the desire for loving connection to emerge.
 - Help you become skilled and efficient with the electronic medical records system and the fee monitoring and collection process,
 - Help you learn how and when to use our vast collection of tools, exercises, protocols and audio recordings clients can use between sessions to increase the impact of your interventions.
- You will have continuous online access to the full collection of Dr. Atkinson’s teaching videos that give step-by-step guidance on how to facilitate every single aspect of the therapy process. Your supervisor will point you to the right video at the right time.

Expectations of Fellows

- Fellows are expected to conduct an average of 44 sessions per month during the first six months of the Fellowship, and a minimum of 40 sessions per month during months 7-12 (40 sessions per month is the minimum during months 7-12. Fellows are encouraged to conduct an average of 80 sessions per month).
- Fellows are expected to conduct therapy sessions during “prime time” hours: 4-10 PM weekdays; 8AM – 6 PM Saturdays and Sundays (unless some of these hours can be scheduled with clients who are available during daytime weekday hours).
- Fellows are expected to attend all training and supervision sessions as detailed in the Training and Supervision section above.
- Fellows are expected to record their counseling sessions for review during supervision.
- Fellows are expected to engage in role plays facilitated by the clinical supervisors.
- Fellows are expected to be open to understanding their own relational tendencies and the etiology of those tendencies.
- Fellows are expected to read and be proficient with assigned materials prior to the beginning of, and during, the Fellowship.

Fellow Pay and Benefits

- The One-Year Fellowship is a full-time, paid position.
- In the first six months, you will be classified as an independent contractor, and you will be paid a monthly stipend based on a 40K annual rate (3333/month). You won't be expected to carry a full-time caseload. Rather, you'll be expected to average 44 sessions per month across the first 6 months. If you conduct more than the required number of sessions, you'll get a bonus of $42 per session. If you conduct less than the required number of sessions, you'll receive a deduction of $42.
- At month 7, you will convert from an independent contractor to a Couples Clinic employee and receive Couples Clinic benefits during the remainder of your fellowship (The Clinic will pay ½ of your Social Security and Medicare taxes and you'll be eligible to enroll in an optional IRA plan in which the Couples Clinic makes the maximum allowed IRA employer contribution. You will also have the option of enrolling in the Couples Clinic health insurance plan). You'll also shift from receiving a set stipend each month to getting paid a per-session rate which increases the more sessions you conduct. Full-time fellows who average 80 sessions per month during months 7-12 (20 sessions per week) receive a monthly pay of about $4135.
- In addition to pay for sessions conducted, the Fellowship training, supervision and benefits package is estimated to be worth $47,806 during the fellowship year. See the PDF titled, “2023-2025 Fellowship Compensation Package” for more detail.
- Throughout the fellowship, the Couples Clinic provides liability and malpractice insurance.
- If you perform well during the 2-year fellowship, you'll receive an invitation to join the Couples Clinic permanent team of therapists. You'll earn approximately $70 per session.

The Application Process

1. Email your resume or curriculum vitae (to staff@thecouplesclinic.com) along with the names and contact information of three supervisors or professors who you are willing to allow us to speak with about your qualities as a therapist. In your email, tell us why you are interested in the Fellowship and why you think you would be a good candidate.
2. Record a video introducing yourself and answering the following questions. Email the video as an attachment or upload it to YouTube and send us the link (staff@thecouplesclinic.com .) (You can use your phone to record the video).

Questions:

- What about the Fellowship at the Couples Clinic is exciting to you?
- What are your strengths and weaknesses?
- What adjectives best describe your personality?
- What are you like in a group? How do people experience you?
- With any new endeavor in life, certain aspects will feel natural and easy, and others will feel difficult or frustrating. We learn about ourselves from how we respond to the challenging aspects. Please tell us about one of your endeavors. What aspects of your role came easily or naturally, and what aspects didn't come as easily for you. How did you respond to the parts of your role that weren't natural or easy for you to do?

- In this fellowship, you'll receive lots of feedback about your personal habits of interacting with others, your habits of expressing yourself, and the way you organize and process thoughts and emotions. Have you ever received feedback on these sorts of things? Can you give an example? What do you think this feedback process will be like for you?
- Have you ever expressed a complaint to a supervisor or boss, or had a complaint but decided not to express it? (Please give an example). What was the decision-making process (to express or not to express) like for you? If you decided to express it, how did it go? What (if anything) would you do differently if you could do it over again?
- Do you believe that couples therapists should voice opinions about (and attempt to influence) dysfunctional communication and interpersonal habits evidenced by those involved in leadership and government? What is the biggest problem you have seen in leadership and government lately?
- If you were offered this fellowship – what would be your biggest hesitations in taking the position?
- Where do you envision yourself in 5 years? In 10 years?
- What else should we know about you?

3. The Application Timeline

- Applications are currently being reviewed. We will continue accepting applications until all fellowship positions are filled.
- Offers will be contingent upon the applicant completing of Levels 1 and 2 of the Online Training Program in Pragmatic/Experiential Therapy for Couples before beginning the fellowship.
